ATTACKS STONE.

Gen. Hardin Challenges the Record of Capt. Stone.

Charges That He Voted For the Issue of Gold Bonds
In 1895.

Gen. P. W. Hardin made a speech at Shelbyville, Saturday, on which he challenged the record in congress of Capt. W. J. Stone on the silver question, charging him with voting for gold bonds and calling upon him to quit the race for governor. It was in answer to Capt. Stone's Winchester speech. He charged that Capt. Stone's speech had been made to inflame the voters of the state and then sprung a Congressional Record to prove that Capt. Stone did upon two occasions, on February 7, 1895, vote for the Springer bill to issue gold bonds, and when it was defeated by Bryan, Bland and Bailey, a joint resolution followed on February 11, 1895, to issue $65,110,275 of gold bonds, voted again for this resolution, which was also defeated.

Gen. Hardin read the bill, and said that when Capt. Stone claims he voted for amendments to the bill, his claim did not clear him of the charge of voting for an issue of gold bonds. He said that the first amendment Capt. Stone did vote for simply changes the fifth section of the bill, which related to the collection of duties on imports, and did not change or attempt to change any other provision of the bill.

HARDIN COMING.

Will Speak at the Court House
To-Morrow.

Gen. P. W. Hardin will speak at the Court House to-morrow afternoon in the interest of his candidacy for Governor. Gen. Hardin has been in the Third district this week and his last speech at Bowling Green was a strong arraignment of both his opponents. He has a large and enthusiastic following here and will doubtless be greeted by a big crowd.

MILLER-McCORMICK.

Princeton Physician and Indiana
Lady United in Marriage.

At high noon yesterday Dr. Joseph A. H. Miller, of Princeton, and Miss Theodosia McCormick, of Charleston, Ind., were married at the home of the bride. Dr. Miller is one of the best-known physicians and surgeons in Western Kentucky, a most successful practitioner, and is well known here, having formerly lived at Roaring Springs. He was for several years the partner of Dr. Hugh F. McNary, who died about two years since while superintendent of the Central Asylum. Miss McCormick was a year ago teacher of languages at the Princeton Collegiate Institute, and is an accomplished and popular young woman.

CIRCUIT COURT.

This Is the Last Day of the Spring Term.

This is the last day of this term of Circuit Court. A large number of cases have been disposed of during the term and the docket is in good shape. Several equity cases will be held before adjournment this afternoon. The juries were dismissed Wednesday and paid off. The total amount paid, including the 3 per cent to the trustee of the Jury fund, was $1818.98.

Divine Healer.

Dr. Henri C. Blandford, the divine healer, is holding forth in the Merritt building, and a great many afflicted people are calling upon him. He is reported to have made some miraculous cures in Bowling Green.

GOEBEL WARMS UP.

Some of His Hot Talk at Madisonville.

Attacks Hardin's Silver Record and Calls Him Out on State Issues.

Senator Goebel at Madisonville on Saturday paid his respect to Gen. Hardin's Shepherdsville speech. He said:

"In opening my canvass for the nomination of the Democratic party for the office of Governor, in addition to declaring my adherence to the Democratic position upon the currency question, I also declared in favor of the application of the principles of the national platform of 1896 to certain state matters. Since the month of January, I have been endeavoring to obtain from the other candidates an expression of their views upon these subjects. It has been stated time and again by the friends of these gentlemen that no such expression would be made, and at last that declaration is verified by my distinguished competitor, Gen. P. W. Hardin.

"In his speech delivered at Shepherdsville on Tuesday last, Gen. Hardin declared that all discussions in this campaign, of a proposition to enact a statute conferring upon the railroad commission power to fix maximum rates for the carrying of freight over the railroads of the commonwealth in order to prevent the levying of extortionate tribute upon the people by the railway corporations, was the raising of a false issue and a 'diversion' from what should constitute the only subject of discussion—namely, the free coinage of silver question. He declared that all discussion of a proposition to enact a statute that will take from the school children the heavy hand and greedy clutch of the book trust and reduce to a reasonable price the cost of the books used in the common schools is the raising of a false issue and a 'diversion' from the true and only subject proper for discussion in this canvass. He declared that all discussion of the new election law or of the question of its repeal or maintenance by the next general assembly is the raising of a false issue and a 'diversion' from the only matters that ought to be discussed.

"He declared that the discussion of a proposition to enact and enforce a proper anti-trust law was the raising of a false issue and a 'diversion' from the true subject of discussion.

"So that there is no longer doubt as to where Mr. Hardin stands upon these subjects.

"It has heretofore been the rule in Kentucky to discuss state affairs in state campaigns, not always to the exclusion of national issues, but certainly it has not been the rule to confine state campaigns to national issues. If state issues are not to be discussed in state campaigns when are they to be discussed? Are they not to be discussed at all? It is my recollection that in the last state campaign in 1895, Gen. Hardin vigorously discussed even the state matter of threatened negro domination that might in his opinion result from the election of the Republican state ticket.

Some Other 'Divisions.'

Continuing Senator Goebel said: "When the original free silver Democrats in the state convention of 1896 demanded of Gen. Hardin that a temporary chairman be selected who would appoint upon the committee on resolutions from the state-at-large Joseph C. S. Blackburn or J. Proctor Knott, were they raising a false issue or attempting a diversion from the only true issue before the convention? And when by the influences that nominated Hardin, a chairman was selected who appointed William Lindsay upon the committee on resolutions from the state-at-large, so that he might report the platform which was adopted, was that the raising of a false issue and a diversion from the true issue? And when in that convention the vote of Mercer county was cast for the platform adopted, and against the minority resolution declaring for the free coinage of silver, was that the raising of a false issue and a diversion from the true issue?

"When the platform adopted by that convention was prepared in Frankfort days before the convention of 1895 was held, was that raising a false issue and a diversion from the real issue? And when for months after the convention of 1895, the candidate for governor stood dumb and failed by sign or otherwise to indicate in any wise what position he would take upon the currency question, was that raising a false issue and a diversion from the real issue? And when, in the Auditorium debate, Gov. Wm. O. Bradley asked Mr. Hardin to state whether, if he became governor and it became his duty to appoint a senator in congress, he would appoint a Democrat who favored the free coinage of silver—was Mr. Bradley raising a false issue and attempting a diversion? And was it because Mr. Hardin regarded Mr. Bradley's question as raising a false issue and attempting a diversion that he failed to answer the question and vigorously discussed instead the threatened negro domination of the state?

"And was it or not because of the raising of these false issues and these diversions upon the subject of the free coinage of silver that in the county of Logan over 1,600 free silver Democrats failed to vote for Hardin, and was that the reason 2,000 free silver Democrats in the county of Daviess failed to vote for him; and was, or was not, that the reason the First and Second Congressional districts—where the free silver sentiment was as strong in 1895 as it was in 1896, gave Hardin less than 4,000 majority, and the Second district went Republican the first time in its history, and in 1896 the two districts gave Bryan nearly 20,000 majority?

"Who raised the false issues and attempted the diversions in 1895, the candidate or the Democracy of Kentucky?

"It has been the common understanding that a martyr was one who suffered for a cause, and not one who made a cause suffer for him. Possibly the definition ought to be revised."

QUICK CONSUMPTION

Causes the Death of Well Known Citizen.

Mr. John Hays, a well known mechanic, died at his home on the corner of First and Clay streets about 6 o'clock a. m., yesterday, of quick consumption.

He had been sick for several weeks with the grip, and consumption resulted. He was about 65 years old and leaves a wife and four children, besides a host of friends to mourn their loss. The interment took place in Hopewell Cemetery yesterday afternoon.

MILES VINDICATED.

Every Charge He Made Was Clearly Proven.

Now Eagen Should be Called up to The Captain's Desk.

Every charge that Gen. Miles made concerning the quality of the beef issued by Eagan's department to the troops has been irrefragably proved by testimony before the Board of Inquiry. Indeed the case is shown by unimpeachable testimony to have been even worse than he represented it.

It is proved that beef was sent to the front in a condition which left the men no choice but to bury it or throw it into the sea. It is proved that the so-called canned roast beef was not roasted beef at all, but the stringy remains of beef out of which the nutritive elements had been extracted by boiling; that much of it was spoiled even before it was canned, and all of it nauseating and unwholesome.

As to the "embalmed" beef, we have had almost passionate protestations from the packers that no chemicals were ever used by them. Yet Edward Mason, a commissary sergeant of the regular army, confirms the cloud of witnesses already heard. He testifies that a carload of such beef was rejected by him and that Armour's agent admitted the embalming and gave a technical name "Preservative," to the preparation used.

In brief, Gen. Miles' charges are so conclusively proved by testimony of which this is only an example that no honest mind can longer doubt the truth.

Thus Gen. Miles is vindicated. But how about Eagan? He is the man responsible for these frauds upon the Government, this grievous imposition upon the helpless troops. Thanks to the President's preposterous clemency, Eagan is still an officer of the army and answerable to a court-martial for his new proved misdeeds. When is a court-martial to be called in his case?—New York World.

THRESHER TRUST.

The Combine Will Close Twelve of the Smaller Plants.

Marion, O.,—The threshing machine trust has secured options on two local factories, the Huber Manufacturing Company, and the Marion Manufacturing Company. The plan of the combine is to close about twelve of the smaller plants and run the larger to full capacity. The Huber Company will get $300 per share for its stock, and the plan will be one of those operated by the trust.

"A word to the wise is sufficient," and a word from the wise should be sufficient. But you ask, who are the wise? Those who know. The oft-seen experience of trustworthy persons may be taken for knowledge.

Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years, has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy and nearly all cough medicines manufactured, which conclusively shows that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people and is the best. MASS CONVENTION.

Secretary Gary, of The County Committee, Enters a Protest.

Objects to The Method of Electing Delegates and the Time
For the Convention.

Mr. Editor:—I beg the courtesy of space in your excellent journal to enter a mild protest against the recent action of the District Committee at Lexington. That Committee in my humble judgment was wrong on two counts, both of which are conducive to the same evil.

In the first place the Committee called for the holding of Court House Mass Conventions instead of Precinct Conventions or Primary Elections. In the second place the time for holding these County Conventions was set for June 17th.

Considered singly and conjointly, these acts eliminate the farmer almost entirely, as a factor in naming a candidate for Governor of his State. Not content with what would seem an effort to remove the place of holding the convention out of his reach, it must appear to him that you make assurance doubly sure, by holding it at a time when, although he might strain a point to go to his precinct voting place, he cannot spare the time from harvest to come all the way to Hopkinsville.

If your Committee had invoked the aid of the entire bureau of agriculture, they could scarcely have made a shrewder guess as to harvest time, which will come later this year owing to our long and late winter.

Now Mr. Editor the farmer is as much ashamed of our present State Administration as are our merchants, and they are ten times as numerous. In the eternal fitness of things they should be the first considered instead of not being considered at all. They are greatly incensed at what appears to them an utter ignoring of their aid and preference in choosing a nominee, if not an intentional setting up of the cards against them. Some of our biggest planters go so far as to suspect it was done in the interest of a certain candidate, who is known only to the politicians of the State, and has but a small following among the farmers.

There has always been too much of a tendency in this County to run things on the grand stand idea. The Republican Court House Clique is not a whit more famous than the Democratic Court House Clique, and yet when we enter a campaign for County officers, we wait at the farmer for his lack of interest, and swear that they and they alone could enable us to win. Small wonder that they stand aloof when they are given such deals as they have had handed out this year.

On the day of the late R. R. Convention held Saturday March 3rd by the County, there was not a farmer in town it rained in torrents the entire day. On the 17th day of June the farmer will be cutting his wheat, and a small squad of Court House Politicians can easily find it in their power to control the vote of Christian, unless the farmers of the County decide to assert their rights at the expense of their crops and take a hand in shaping the destiny of their State.

Hon. Sam J. Shackelford, was buried at Odd Fellows' cemetery today.

Mr. Editor you are a member of the Committee which made this mistake. Of course you are not to understand me as imputing to you or the Committee any sinister motive for their action, but in the interest of my party I certainly condemn it none the less positively.

Don't do it again. It's contrary to the fundamental principles of Democracy, which demand that these questions go as nearly into the houses of the people as possible.

A political trust is as much a trust and as mean a trust, as any of the numerous brood hatched out by the present administration.

PHYSICIAN'S EXAMINATION.

Board of Health Will Examine Applicants This Month.

To whom it may concern:

This board will hold an examination for certificates to practice medicine in Kentucky who are graduates from three-year-schools, whose course of study does not meet the minimum requirements of the Board, at the hall of the University of Louisville, in the City of Louisville, beginning on Tuesday, April 25, 1899, according to the following schedule:

Anatomy, Tuesday, 9 to 11:30 a. m.

Physiology, Chemistry and Hygiene, Tuesday, 2 to 4:30 p. m.

Obstetrics and Gynaecology, Wednesday, 9 to 11:30 a. m.

Materia Medica and Therapeutics, Wednesday 2 to 4:30 p. m.

Surgery and Diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs, Thursday, 9 to 11:30 a. m.

Histology and Pathology, Thursday, 2 to 4:30 p. m.

The examination will be in writing, no fee will be charged for it, and a grade of 70 will be required to pass. It will be comprehensive, but entirely fair in every respect, and within the reach of any recent graduate qualified to practice medicine with safety to our people.

Very respectfully,

J. M. MATTHEWS, M. D., President.

J. N. McCormack, M. D., Secretary.

Weeding Out.

Weeding out the flock improves it every year, as a higher standard will result. By an observation of the individuals much can be learned, says Mirror and Farmer. The good hens become pets, and pride in their individual excellence on the part of the owner results. The young stock will be hatched only from the best brooders, instead of from eggs taken indiscriminately from the egg basket. No farmer who will carefully cull out the drones need depend on breeders to produce breeds for him. Pure breeds should be used, however, and especially pure-bred males. Even with the choicest stock the matter of selection should not be overlooked. There are drones and idlers in aristocratic flocks as well as in the flocks of low degree. There is room for improvement in every direction. The object should be to impress upon poultrymen and farmers the importance of a close scrutiny of the stock and to teach the fact that a profitable flock can be made up of what may look like unpromising material.

A Catamaran.

Having read to her pupils a description of the sinking of the Merrimac, the teacher some days ago asked her pupils what the word "catamaran" then used meant. There are some of the answers: A catamaran is a savage officer in the Philippine Islands. A catamaran carries clubs in a gold game.

A catamaran is the place in Chicago where the cat show was held.

The catamaran was a convention ball prize.

The catamaran is the proper name for a catboat and war ram together like the Catadin.

Hobson obtained a catamaran from the Spanish officers, which was all he had to eat.

Late sowing of fall wheat is somewhat of a protection against Hessian fly.

AN AFFAIR OF HONOR.

A Kentuckian Tells Some English Friends an Amusing Story.

Mark Whitesides, of Franklin, Ky., tells of a right amusing incident which occurred in England some years ago. Mr. Whitesides has taken the trip across the ocean quite a number of times and traveled extensively over the world. He says that upon one occasion he was in London, together with a number of Englishmen, sitting around a cheerful fire in a hotel office, when the subject of dueling became the topic of conversation. The Englishmen with much enthusiasm told of some of their duels and in most cases some brave Englishman had fought with a citizen of another country, and, of course, had completely demolished his antagonist in every instance.

Finally when they had about exhausted their stock of duels Mr. Whitesides said: "Gentlemen, over home in Kentucky, United States of America, when I was a boy an English lord became offended at the words of a Kentuckian and resorted immediately to the code duello. The Kentuckian accepted the challenge, and of course had a right to choose the weapons and fix the terms of the duel. He selected revolvers as weapons and a thoroughly darkened room as the place or scene of encounter. They were to hunt each other in the midnight darkness and when found fire the deadly shot. The Englishman was turned into this darkened room first, his seconds remaining on the outside. After a few minutes' pause the Kentuckian was also let into the room.

The seconds at the door proclaimed aloud that all arrangements were completed and that the fight could proceed at once. The noble, brave, true and chivalrous Kentuckian, an unmarried man, more willing to suffer death than to have the blood of his fellowman on his hands and hear the cries of the widow and orphans of the Englishman, quietly found his way, through the darkness, to the huge fireplace, and with perfect innocence and self-resignation, coolly fired his weapon upon the chimney, when, to his great surprise the brave English lord came rolling down the chimney, pushed by the Kentuckian's bullet. "Uncle Mark's English friends then quietly retired one by one, seriously considering whether or not all the brave men were to be found in England and the cowards in the other countries.—Bowling Green Times.

THEY EARN THEIR LIVING.

Queer Occupations of Modern Women in London and Paris.

The "dinner taster" is the latest example of the "ultra" type of Parisian refinement. The Parisian palate, you know, is the one thing worth living for, according to the idea of a certain class of people whose pleasure in life depends upon the enjoyment of the senses.

This "dinner taster" makes it her business to visit the fine houses and taste the dishes intended for dinner. She suggests improvements, and shows the cook new ways of preparing dishes. That the business is a profitable one may be judged by the fact that she invariably rides in a cab.

In the East end of London a lucrative trade is followed by some score or so of women. The pawnbrokers there are very numerous and never lack for clients. Among the latter, however, are some who do not relish the idea of being brought into personal contact with "run."

It is for the special benefit of these that the pawnbroker's agent exists. She goes several times a day to the pawnshop with articles belonging to the bashful ones, for whom she gets the highest sum procurable on the terms pledged.

For her services she receives a percentage on the amount obtained, ranging from a halfpenny in the shilling, but her commission seldom comes to more than twopence on a single transaction.

Another enterprising London woman has hit on a capital, although probably painful, business. She earns a profitable living by "breaking in" boots for members of the upper circles. She wears them for a few days, until they become easy and comfortable to their owners.

In three or four days they are sufficiently "tamed," and she only wears a pair two hours each day. She works hard, seeing that she sometimes wears 36 different pairs in a week. Half a crown a pair is the professional fee.—N. Y. Journal.

Burglar Cure.

On December 13 burglars entered the house of a Mr. Adams, New York, and thus started the effect of the practitioners of the "jimmy" on her health: "I had been an invalid for many months when those burglars entered my house. I was unable to leave my room except on very rare occasions, and was a very sick woman indeed. But on the morning after the burglary I arose without difficulty and went about my house as if I had never been sick, and I have been in excellent health ever since. I suppose the excitement of the night did it."

CHANGE OF CLIMATE WON'T CURE CONSUMPTION

The Slocum System is Needed.
A Curative Medicinal Treatment Founded on Modern Scientific Truths is More Potent
Than Air Alone.

FREE TREATMENT FOR LUNG WEAKNESS.

If those of our readers who reside in the most highly favored sections of this country, where the climate is healthy and invigorating, with a dry and tonic atmosphere, will look about them, they will see a greater or less number of their friends and neighbors dying of consumption, while many others have already been carried off by that dread malady.

These deaths have occurred from time to time amid the refreshing prairie breezes of summer, in the fair and mild days of autumn, and also in the dry and sunny seasons of a southern winter.

Such deaths amid such favorable surroundings afford positive and convincing proof that climate alone will not cure consumption; that neither pine-needle breezes nor bracing mountain air will restore weak lungs or build up a constitution that is being undermined and broken down by the insidious germs of a fatal disease.

But, on the other hand, many thousands of testimonials from grateful people all over this country, who have been cured by the Dr. Slocum System of Treatment, and are today in the enjoyment of perfectly restored health and strength, afford the most convincing evidence that this treatment, aided by favorable climatic conditions and surroundings, is a potent cure for Consumption and all other chronic diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs.

Therefore, those who go to the mountains, the seashore or to southern climates, as well as those who already reside in such favored localities, should not fail to take the Dr. Slocum System of Treatment if they wish to derive the full benefits of favorable climatic conditions and scientific medication.

The Dr. Slocum System of Treatment (consisting of Four Preparations) is both medicine and food. The medicines in it allay the cough and lung irritation, heal the soreness and subdue the pains in the throat, overcome shortness of breath, improve the appetite and digestion, and bring comfort, rest and refreshing sleep, while its food properties are building up the constitution, enriching the blood and infusing the sufferer with new life and vigor.

No single remedy will accomplish all this, but the Four Remedies embodied in the Dr. Slocum System of Treatment will. More than a quarter of a century has been devoted to perfecting this System of Treatment; every indication, every symptom in Consumption and other diseases of the Throat and Lungs has been carefully studied in the development of this Treatment, therefore those who take it and give it a fair trial, certainly avail themselves of all that modern science and skill have to offer for the cure of Consumption and all forms of wasting diseases.

Dr. Slocum's faith in the efficacy of his System of Treatment is so strong, and his interest in the welfare of humanity so great, that he will cheerfully send his complete System of Treatment (Four Preparations) FREE to all sufferers who ask for it!

Laughing Plant of Arabia.

The seeds of the laughing plant of Arabia produce the same effect upon persons as laughing gas. The plant attains a height of from two to four feet, with woody stems, wide spreading branches and bright green foliage.
Its fruits are produced in clusters and are of a yellow color. The seed-pods are soft and woolly in texture, and contain two or three black seeds of the size of a Brazilian bean. Their flavor is a little like opium, and their taste is sweet; the odor from them

STONE COMES BACK.

Attacks Hardin in a Speech
at Frankfort.

Alludes to the Flax Barker Job and Hardin's Record as Attorney.

Capt. W. J. Stone spoke at Frankfort Monday in advocacy of his candidacy for governor. Much of his speech was taken up in answering Gen. Hardin's bitter attack at Shelbyville Saturday upon him and his record in congress. He explained that he only voted as he did in February, 1895, for the bill and resolution for gold bonds, in their preliminary stages, in order to get a chance to vote finally to kill them.

Capt. Stone also said that as Gen.
Hardin had made a personal assault upon him he now had a perfect right to go into Hardin's record as attorney general of Kentucky, and mentioned the fact that the court of appeals recently decided that the $40-000 or $50,000 paid Max Barber as auditor's agent at Louisville was wholly illegal, was done upon the official opinion of Wat Hardin as attorney general, that Barker was entitled to see this vast sum as commissions upon money which he had never collected, or even had an indirect part in collecting.

He said Hardin has been a chronic office-seeker for twenty-four years, but that he had only succeeded in winning when his name was attached to the tail of a ticket; that when he was given the leadership in 1895 he led the never-before-beaten Democratic party to an inglorious defeat.

Women Should Know.

Many women suffer untold agony and misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood. They have been led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for the many ills that beset womanhood.
Neuralgia, nervousness, headache, or dark circles under the eyes, rheumatism, a dragging pain or dull ache in the back, weakness or bearing-down sensation, profuse or scanty supply of urine with strong odor, frequent desire to pass it with scalding or burning sensation, sediment in it after standing in bottle common glass for twenty-four hours, are signs of kidney and bladder trouble.

The above symptoms are often attributed by the patient herself or by her physician to female weakness or womb trouble. Hence, so many fail to obtain relief, because they are treating, not the disease itself, but a reflection of the primary cause, which is kidney trouble.

In fact women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble and both need the same remedy.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is the great discovery of the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is easy to get at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar.

To prove its wonderful merits you may have a sample bottle and book telling all about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Kindly

TUCKIAN and send your address to

FISCAL COURT.

Body in Session This Week Allowing Claims.

The Fiscal Court of the county, with every member present, has been in session all this week and will not conclude its business before Saturday. Applications for road repairs were heard yesterday morning and in the afternoon the court went into executive session to pass upon these matters. The county levy will not likely be changed from last year and Messrs.
Durham and Major, road supervisors, who were laid off last fall, will probably be appointed again
and ordered to resume work.

SEASON OF 1899.

To Our Farmers: Another season of seed time is fast approaching, and the wise and prudent farmer will again use the old and favorably known JONES BRANDS OF BONE AND ANIMAL MATTER FERTILIZERS, that have for many years done their full duty when applied to both Spring and Fall crops. The use of commercial fertilizers is almost universal, and the experience of many years has proven conclusively that ANIMAL MATTER FERTILIZERS are the most complete plant food known, and the fact of putting ACID PHOSPHATE ROCK in a bag and branding it "DIS-SOLVED BONE" does not make it animal matter. Honest strictly pure Animal Matter Fertilizer is cost more than a few cents, because they are worth more, and we ask that you remember this fact. Our goods are under our guarantee analysis and this guarantee is good. We offer our goods on their merits, and refer with great satisfaction to their most excellent reputation in all parts of Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky, where they are extensively used. We respectfully urge you to give the celebrated Jones Fertilizing Co.'s goods a trial on both Spring and Fall crops, and we know satisfactory results and future orders will certainly follow.

body with whom he comes in contact.

As he was never married, there is not much romance of the softer kind to chronicle about him, but the household to which he was the mainstay was a peculiar one, consisting of himself, an old woman known as "Black May," and her daughter—Lloyd's.

HAWAII'S OLDEST WOMAN.

Kepoolele Apua Recently Died at the Age of 127 Years.

There died at Honolulu recently a woman of the age of 127 years. The figures have been verified by Prof. Alexander, the historian; A. T. Atkinson, superintendent of census, and Mrs. E. M. Nakina, a Hawaiian lady of high cultivation, both in English and her own language. The following account of a visit to the old woman three years ago was prepared by Mrs. Nakina, and is vouched for by Prof. Alexander:

"On entering the house we found her sitting on the floor. She was attended by two women, one of whom was the wife of a grandson. She was very deaf and could not see clearly, though when I presented a dollar for her she held out her hand for it and placed it in her pocket. This was at the close of the interview, but I mention it now to show what the old lady's faculties were.

"Prof. Alexander, after some preliminary remarks, in order not to alarm the old lady, suggested a number of historical questions which were put by myself. From these we learned that she well remembered the abolition of idolatry and the war in that connection. She stated that she was a married woman and an attendant of Kapiolani I., when that queen descended into the crater of the Kilauea volcano and broke the tabu against women being in that locality. The old lady said that in consequence of this momentous event her own name was changed by her people from Kepoolele to Apua.

"Becoming interested in the subject of old events, the aged woman volunteered the information that she remembered the digging of the well in Kawa by Kamehameha I., and that she was a child at the time, running about like a child of six or seven. This event occurred in 1781 and is described in Forman's history.

"I followed up another method of investigation, inquiring how many children she had, tracing their descendants. She was enabled to do so to the fifth generation. Allowing the ordinary 30 years for a generation would give 120 years, and we can easily allow for the fifth enough to bring her out at the age she claims by an entirely different method. We were satisfied that the old lady had spoken the truth.

"What a curious link with the past she is. She must have been a little toddling child when Capt. Cook came to the islands. She saw the monarchy of Hawaii consolidated and she saw it fall. She remained a monument to the past."

The following may be accepted as the history of Kepoolele Apua. She was born at Keihikula, Puna, Hawaii, and was about six years old in 1781. The name Kepoolele was that of a high chief of the time. This chief (alii) was accused of causing deaths by sorcery and petition was made to the king to have his head cut off, as he was considered an extremely dangerous person. Hence the name Kepoolele (the disverberated head). The name Apua means "What will be eaten up," which was the almost universal threat or prophecy when Kapiolani placed the women of Hawaii on a level with men by visiting the sacred precincts of Pele, the fire goddess. At the time this old woman received this second name she was full grown.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

CONDUCTOR'S LITTLE MISTAKE

Ground Cloves Not a Good Substitute for Coffee.

A conductor got up early the other morning and got his own breakfast. He is not used to this, as his wife, who had the gripe on this occasion, is used to getting breakfast ready. He is fond of strong coffee for his early meal, and filling the pot with water, heaped in four tablespoonfuls of what he took to be coffee.

After all was done, the coffee pot steaming, and hash well browned, he sat by his own self to brook his fast. The coffee did not seem very hot, so he drank it all half in three or four sips. Then the roof started. He yelled like a maniac. His trembling little wife ran out to see her husband dancing alone on one foot and screeching like a maniac.

He ran to the water pail and drank off two quarts of cold water like an affrighted animal, and then quieted down enough to ask: "What is the matter with the coffee?" "Well, dear, you mistook the ground cloves for the coffee, that's all,"—Lewiston Journal.

NAME OF A TOWN.

How a Kentucky Neighborhoj Came to Be Called Pinecho.

Some 12 miles back of Havesville, Ky., and where the county lines of Hancock and Breckinridge coincide, lies the neighborhood of Pinecho. The principal product of Pinecho, whose fame extends throughout the state, is pugilists, and the rough-and-tumble variety. Should you attend a dance ("shin-dig," they call it) in Pinecho and escape being shot, cut or knocked on the head, you may well claim that the day of miracles are still in full blast; and if you were present at one of the old-time woodchoppings and failed to see some one receive a broken nose before the festivities ended, you might well have abundant reason for kicking against not having had a run for your money.

So unenvyous is the reputation of the neighborhood that you are told by its citizens, when inquiring as to its location, though you may be right in the heart of it, that it is a mile or two "further off." Of course there are a number of good citizens living in Pinecho—diamonds in the rough, it were, but the polishing process to bring out the scintillating qualities would, however, be attended with the risk of the polisher's scalp-lock.

As readers may be interested in the peculiar name of the neighborhood whose fame I humbly seek to immortalize in prosaic print, I will give its origin.

A number of years ago there lived in Hancock county a true man and brave named Matt Holland. He possessed unbounded confidence in his ability as a fighter, and he was in that connection. She stated that she was a married woman and an attendant of Kapiolani I., when that queen descended into the crater of the Kilauea volcano and broke the tabu against women being in that locality. The old lady said that in consequence of this momentous event her own name was changed by her people from Kepoolele to Apua.

The old lady said that she remembered Keoua being killed at Kawaihae. This occurred in 1791, and is described in Alexander's "History of the Hawaiian People."

Becoming interested in the subject of old events, the aged woman volunteered the information that she remembered the digging of the well in Kawa by Kamehameha I., and that she was a child at the time, running about like a child of six or seven. This event occurred in 1781 and is described in Forman's history.

I followed up another method of investigation, inquiring how many children she had, tracing their descendants. She was enabled to do so to the fifth generation. Allowing the ordinary 30 years for a generation would give 120 years, and we can easily allow for the fifth enough to bring her out at the age she claims by an entirely different method. SOMETIMES when you have lame back and feel poorly, you stop working for the day. But all you do is take the rest and go right to work again when the symptoms quiet down. That is no way to head off a terrible disease that is fastening its grip upon you. Stop the first leak or you lose the ship.

Dr. J. H. McLean's Liver & Kidney Balm quickly cures those first irregularities and thus repels Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Rheumatism, Jaundice and Female Troubles. Druggists have it, $1.00 a bottle.

The burial occurred in the family graveyard Tuesday afternoon.

SEVERAL CONVERSIONS.

The Holiness Meeting at Anderson's Hall Growing in Interest.

The holiness meeting at Anderson's Hall, conducted by Rev. J. W. Collins and wife, of Bardwell, Ky., is growing in interest with each service and there have already been a half dozen conversions. There are two sermons each day—at 3 o'clock p. m. and again at 7 o'clock and the meeting will probably last for a week longer.

That Cough Hangs On

You have used all sorts of cough remedies but it does not yield; it is too deep seated. It may wear itself out in time, but it is more liable to produce la grippe, pneumonia or a serious throat affection. You need something that will give you strength and build up the body.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

will do this when everything else fails. There is no doubt about it. It nourishes, strengthens, builds up and makes the body strong and healthy, not only to throw off this hard cough, but to fortify the system against further attacks. If you are run down or emaciated you should certainly take this nourishing food medicine.

ROASTED HORSES.

O'Brien's Stable Burns Tuesday Night Consuming 22 Horses.

A Bad Fire In The Heart of The City.—The Kentuckian's Close Shave.

A very destructive fire occurred at 7.30 o'clock Tuesday evening, entailing a loss of about $8,000, only $2,300 of which was covered by insurance.

A deplorable feature of the fire was the loss of 22 horses, many of them the very finest harness animals in the city.

The fire was in O'Brien & Schmidt's livery stable on the corner of Virginia and Tenth streets. On the south, across a narrow street, was Forbes & Bro's immense planing mill, and to the west, separated only by a ten-foot alley, were the Racket store and the KENTUCKIAN building, one of the hand-somest blocks on Main street. The fire was in a very dangerous locality and had it occurred later in the night a terrible conflagration could not have been averted.

Mr. O'Brien and two or three colored men were in the office of the stable when a sudden flash of light illuminated the back end of the stable and a glance showed that a fire had started in the hay-loft.

Mr. O'Brien with an open knife ran from stall to stall and cut the reins of 26 horses in the stable and began trying to get them out. Geo. Pendleton, col., was in the stable with his express hitched up and made his escape. Jessup's transfer horse was also hitched up, but without a driver, but the old gray vacated in short order and went trotting up to the next corner and went into Layne's stable.

Mr. O'Brien had succeeded in getting out three of his horses, when one of the frightened animals ran over him in trying to get back into the flames, and disabled him. The colored men were so busy yelling fire that they did nothing more than get out a few of the vehicles nearest the door. One other horse, Dr. Thomas' old Bullet, as soon as he was cut loose, ran out and escaped. Of the 28 animals in the stable 22 were destroyed. The cries of the imprisoned beasts were terrific and were heard for squares, until one by one they were suffocated and became still.

In the meantime Mr. Forbes had started a private hose to playing on the fire while the department was responding, which was in a few minutes. The real danger was in the rear, where the Racket store and KENTUCKIAN buildings were greatly exposed and the flames were leaping across the narrow alley almost touching these buildings when the fire company got several streams turned on and soon had the fire under control.

In an hour the fire had been extinguished and only the blackened walls and the roasted carcasses of the horses remained. The tin roof was melted through in only two places and there were not many large openings in the walls. This confined the fire to the inside in a great measure and made it easier to control.

The firemen never did better work. They worked faithfully, intelligently and effectively and did all that could have been done under the circumstances.

The Losses.

The building was owned by Moses L. Elb and was insured with Bryan & Wilkinson for $1,000. The loss is at least $2,000, even if the walls can be used again, which is doubtful.

O'Brien & Schmidt lost six horses, seven buggies and a large lot of harness, provender, etc. Their loss is estimated at $2,000, with only $1,000 insurance.

The other losers were as follows: Dr. F. P. Thomas, horse and buggy and sleigh, $200.

Dr. B. F. Eager, horse and phaeton, $150.

M. H. Tandy, blooded driving horse and fine buggy, $325. Mr. Tandy offered a reward of $100 to anyone who would save his beautiful mare, the pride of his heart.

J. T. Hanbery, horse and buggy, $200. Insured for $150.

J. M. Higgins, horse and buggy, $300.

R. M. Wooldridge, horse and

gy. $225.
Dr. H. H. Wallace, horse $150. His buggy was in the shop and was saved.
S. B. Hicks, horse and buggy, $125.
M. E. Fulk, horse and buggy, $100.
W. T. Cooper, two horses, two wagons and a buggy, $400.
Max Moayon, horse and fine new trap $200.
W. M. Hancock, horse and buggy, $200.
E. W. Henderson, horse and new phaeton, $250.
W. E. Ragsdale, horse and buggy, $200.
E. R. Bogard, horse used by Clark Ragsdale, $75.
F. M. Quarles, horse and surrey, $200, insured.
R. E. Cooper, fine trap, $135.
Dr. Rodman, two vehicles, $250.
Their losses aggregate about $4,000, with only about $350 of insurance. They fall upon eighteen boarding patrons of the stable and in some cases will be heavily felt by the losers.

Will Hancock had driven his horse into the stable not five minutes before. He was at the Phoenix Hotel and ran to the stable to save his horse but the door was blocked with vehicles and it was impossible to get in.

Last summer Howell Tandy, Will Hancock, Will Ragsdale and Will Cummings had a race at Jim Radford's track to decide which had the best horse, and Tandy won the race.

All of these fine horses, except Mr. Cummings', were lost. He kept his at another stable.
